

ISG Provider Lens™

Cloud Transformation/Operation Services & XaaS 2019

---

Definition

The growth of cloud adoption by enterprises and the maturity of the cloud industry are creating wider impacts upon organizations and business models, requiring increased market adaptation and risks of obsolescence. Considering the widespread adoption in the as-a-Service area, enterprises must continuously evaluate cloud service and IT providers including on a global level.

ISG reports the continual strong demand for digital transformation is driving global contracts for cloud products and services including Infrastructure-as-a-service (IaaS) and Software-as-a-Service (SaaS). The ISG Index™, which tracks global commercial contracts, recorded annual contract value (ACV) of $12 billion in Q1 2018, and increase of 11 percent from the previous quarter. These global numbers include as-a-service and traditional sourcing by large enterprises. IaaS ACV was up globally 48 percent from the previous year and SaaS ACV recorded an 18 percent increase. The massive growth numbers in the as-a-Service area indicate the continual shift and momentum to digital technologies in order to lower costs, increase developer productivity, improve responsiveness to business requirements, improve service to end users, and ultimately drive innovation.

The ISG Provider Lens™ study offers IT-decision makers:

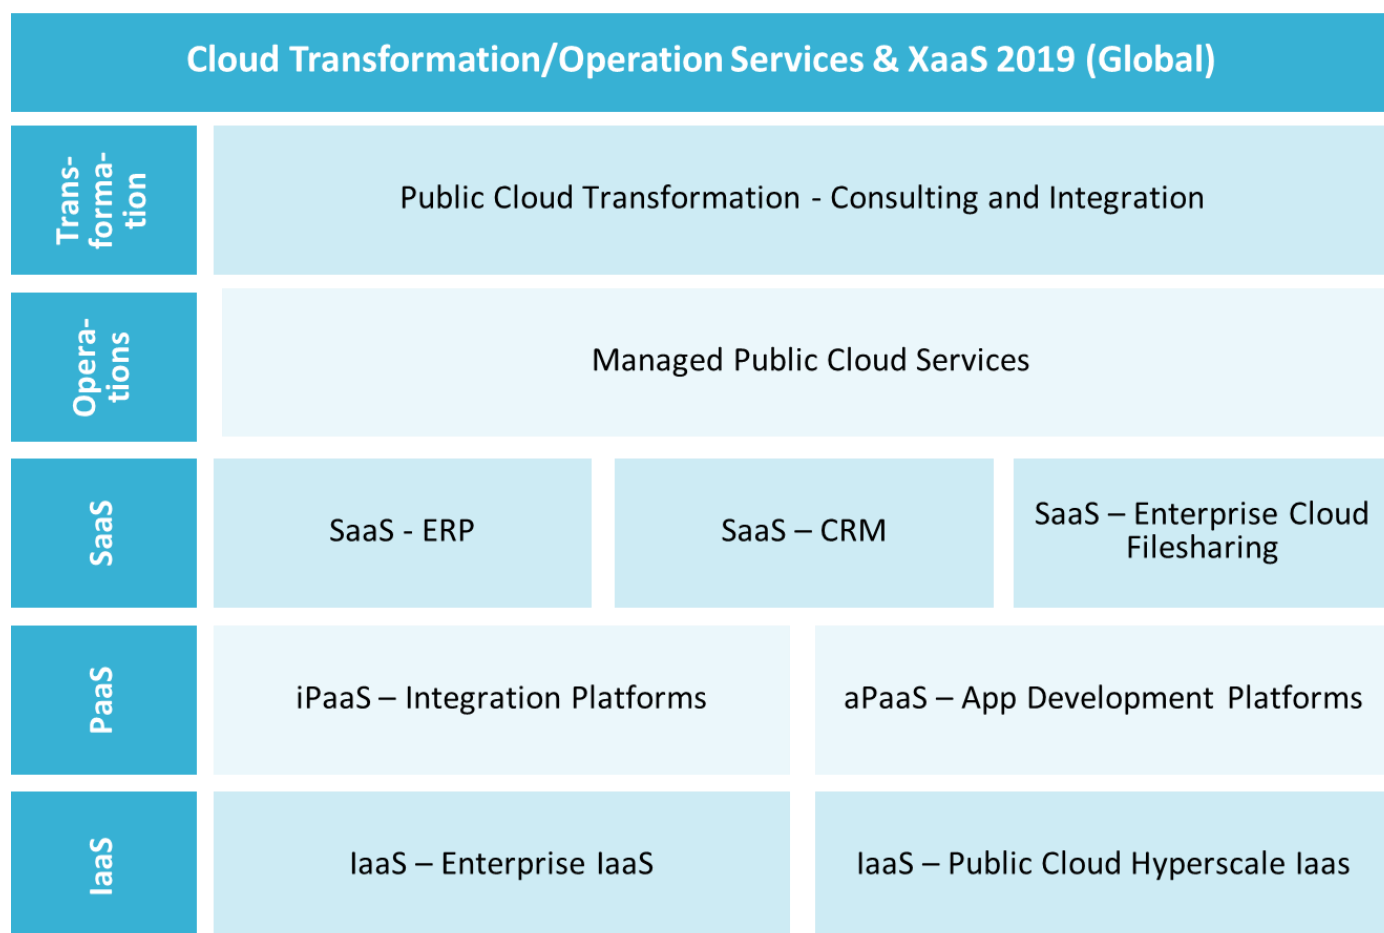

- Transparency of strengths and weaknesses of relevant providers
- A differentiated positioning of providers by segments
- Focus towards different markets including global, US, Germany, Switzerland, UK, Australia & New Zealand, Brazil, Europe and Pan America

Our study serves as an important decision-making basis for positioning, key relationships, and go-to-market considerations. ISG Advisors and enterprise clients also leverage information from these reports in evaluating their current vendor relationships and potential new engagements.
